Gas prices up to 25 cents a gallon higher than at stations in Norway/South Paris

A price war in the Oxford Hills area has driven gasoline prices there well below the state average, but the competitive price slashing has done nothing to benefit Bethel area drivers—who as of last week were paying a few cents more per gallon than most other Maine motorists.

In a survey conducted last Friday, prices at Bethel area service stations were as much as 25 cents a gallon higher for premium unleaded than at stations in Norway/South Paris. The differences were evident even between stations owned by the same companies (see photos).

Price differences for the lower petitive markets. But, according to Reggie Brown, who manages C.N. Brown's Big Apple station on Route 2, the difference was only 5 or 6 cents a gallon prior to Iraq's invasion of Kuwait.

Both Brown and Esther Crockett, who manages C.N. Brown's Red Top station on Route 26, said they had been told by company representatives that the nearby price war, not the distant Gulf war, were the cause of the price disparities.

Prices at the pumps in Bethel (which are set by the companies that own the stations, not the local managers) are also higher than prices

"Your mother will leave you for a penny a gallon and go across the street to buy gas."

Harold Jones
President, C.N. Brown

grades of fuel were slightly less.

"I figured out this morning that you can save $8 on 30 gallons. It's almost worth driving my wrecked down there to fill up," said Dwayne Bennett—who manages the Irving station on Mechanic Street in Bethel.

Bethel area gasoline prices are traditionally higher than in more comin Rumford and Berlin/Gorham N.H., but the difference is not as extreme as it is between here and Norway/South Paris.

The three companies that own the local stations, C.N. Brown, Irving, and J.P. Cullinan, are not even the major players in the price war to the south.

Supt. Craig says personnel and programs must be cut to meet no-new-taxes goal

The initial FY 1992 school budget proposed by SAD #44 administrators does not meet the school board's goal of no increase in local school taxes for the coming year.

In a memo presented at Monday's meeting of the school district's board of directors, Superintendent Dwayne Craig said he will have to cut more than $800,000 from his first draft budget if he is to meet the school board's goal.

In the memo, which was circulated to all district employees, Craig said that meeting the board's goal will require cutting personnel and programs within the district.

The school board voted unanimously in January that the FY 1992 budget prepared by the administration include no increase in local school assessments.

The present FY 1991 budget figure is $5,954,117. With cuts expected in state aid and the stipulation of no increase in local property taxes, the FY 1992 budget goal set by school board directors is $5,768,612.

The first draft of the FY 1992 budget asks for expenditures equal to $6,416,624. In Monday's memo, Craig stated, "If the Board holds to its request to not increase local municipal assessments, I must then make reductions to the proposed FY '92 budget which will equal $648,013. It will be impossible to achieve this amount of a decrease without cutting personnel and programs within the district."

Craig said after the school board meeting that he and district administrators will be preparing a list of proposed cuts this week.

Craig said in the memo that the next month will be a difficult one, "Building this budget has been my most difficult task since becoming your Superintendent. There may be many proposals and rumors during the next four weeks relating to the budget and possible reductions. Please remember that until the Board votes on the final budget on March 11, 1991, all discussions are

Newry voters discuss Interim Unified Development Ordinance

The Newry Growth Management Committee held a public hearing last week to discuss a proposed Interim Unified Review Ordinance—a comprehensive package of new zoning ordinances and performance standards.

Newry, like other towns in Maine, is mandated by the state to come up with such a plan.

Since the ordinances are new to the town, residents—who must approve the proposal—had basic questions to ask about the undertaking, especially about how the various zones were determined.

The committee has spent the last several months developing the Interim Unified Review Ordinance, which would encompass all of Newry's ordinances and performance standards and replace the town's current patchwork of development regulations—until such time as a comprehensive plan for the town is adopted.

In his opening remarks Committee Chairman Les Otten, said the committee used existing patterns of growth as a guide in determining the development zones. "The Bear River side of Newry is currently being used as more of a rural zone, while Sunday River is

Fire destroys Main Street Apt. building

A fire Monday evening gutted an apartment house on Main Street in Bethel and left 10 people homeless.

Sixty firefighters from Bethel, Newry, Greenwood, Norway and Gilead responded to the fire, which took six hours to bring under control, according to Bethel Fire Chief James Young.

No one was in the building when the fire broke out.

Bethel Police Officer Darren Tripp and Reggie Brown of Bethel ran through the building checking for occupants before the Bethel Fire Department arrived.

Tripp and Brown had been in the Big Apple store on Railroad Street when Allison Bartlett came in and reported seeing flames inside the building.

Central Maine Power Co. also responded to the fire and cut service to the burning building and about six other homes in the area, Young said.

Local joblessness dropped slightly at end of year

Unemployment in the SAD #44 area fell slightly in December but remained well above both the state average and the local rate for this time last year.

According to Gerard Dennison, a senior economic analyst for the Maine Department of Labor, the decline in local unemployment in December was due largely to seasonal factors such as hiring in the ski industry and increased pre-Christmas retail activity.

The unemployment figures, recently released by the Department of Labor, show the joblessness rate for the Rumford labor market (which includes much of SAD #44) falling from 11.1 percent in November to 9.5 percent in December. Joblessness in the Norway/South Paris labor market (which includes Greenwood, Woodstock and West Paris) fell from 10.7 percent in November to 10.3 percent in December.

The unemployment rates for December 1989 were 5.6 percent for the Rumford market and 7 percent in the Norway/South Paris market.

According to Dennison, the high local unemployment is due primarily to poor economic conditions in the logging and wood products industries.

The faltering national and regional economies have hit the logging and wood products industries especially hard, he said. The weak economy, for example, has reduced the number of housing starts, and with this the demand for everything from framing timbers to dowels for making furniture.

Dennison said there are still no signs or a turnaround in the near future.

Telstar girls capture MVC nordic ski title

The Telstar High School girls cross-country ski team turned on the speed Saturday, and skied away with first place in the Mountain Valley Conference 1991 championship.

The Telstar boys, turning in another balanced performance, placed fourth in the seven-team meet, which was held at Black Mountain in Rumford.

The Hutchins sisters, Shilo and Misty, paced the Rebels, placing second and third overall. Kristen Powell came in eighth, and Crystal Chase tied for 12th place.

Fred Burk led the way for the Rebel boys with a strong second-place finish.

Letters to the editor

GOVERNOR SAYS 'THANK YOU'

To the Editor:

On behalf of Peter's mother Judith, her husband, Tim Vigue, Olympia and our families, I want to express our gratitude to so many of your readers for the overwhelming response of concern and affection following our son Peter's collapse and death.

We want to personally acknowledge the thousands of letters and cards we have received, but we are finding it a very slow process. The words of encouragement, affection, sorrow and hope have helped sustain us during these past few weeks and will continue to provide comfort in the days and weeks ahead. The letters and drawings from school children all over the state have touched us profoundly and we treasure these gifts that bring smiles amid the tears. Each and every one has eased the burden we carry in our hearts.

The scholarship fund that has been established is a fitting tribute to Peter, and we thank our many friends for their generous donations. We deeply appreciate this chance to provide college scholarships in Peter's memory for deserving Maine students.

Please know that we are grateful beyond measure for the kindness everyone has shown us.

John R. McKernan Jr.
Governor

ALL MIKE'S POINTS TOOK YEARS OF DEDICATION

To the Editor:

I know my son will probably want to strangle me for this, but as a parent, I reserve and protect the right to be proud of my children.

Once read where someone had written on Mike's notebook, "He has an unusual love for hoop" ... well, that person knew what they were writing. Over the years it's never been unusual for me to find basketballs in his bed, or to see him lying on the couch and somewhat annoyingly tossing and turning and tossing them in the air.

And I will never forget having to go to school to stop him from playing once. He had been playing up in the parking lot for a long time, so long that it was well after dark, and down to 11 degrees. (Anyone knowing Michael knows that has to be one of the only times he didn't manage to get inside the gym to play.)

I've watched him as a starting varsity player since his freshman year. He gave a great deal to the game that year and sometimes there was nothing left for anything or anyone else, including himself. I feel it was put into a different perspective after that, but that he was still able to give to the sport. I know he has never wanted to be thought of as a "gunner" or "ballhog," and those who know basketball would have to agree he has been a team player.

These Telstar Rebels have provided me with many years of frustration ... entertainment ... and a great deal of pride. I am very, very proud of you, Michael, and I hope you are proud of yourself. I love you, and I admire your ability to remain a team player while still displaying the capability in scoring 1,042 career points.

RESENTS 'STEREOTYPING' OF OUT-OF-STATE DRIVERS

To the Editor:

I just received a letter from my father with the usual clippings from the local newspapers. It only took 17 days to get to me and contained items from the Globe, USA Today, and the Lawrence Eagle Tribune. He also enclosed a clipping from your newspaper. However, it was a caption under one of your photos that annoyed me enough to drop you a line. (Note: the photo referred to is of a Mercedes-Benz from Massachusetts exiting onto Main St. from the IGA parking lot. The photo appeared in the Jan. 2 issue of The Citizen.)

Your sarcasm and wit is really not fitting for a professional newspaper. No—I don't drive a Mercedes but I am an "out-of-stater" and I do take offense at your stereotyping.

It's been a few years since I've had the opportunity to go skiing in Maine (Army training and wars keep getting in the way) but last time I was there the people of Bethel were very kind. I hope when I finally return from Saudi Arabia (yes, I've been deployed since Mid-August) that it will still be ski season. I would like to go skiing in Maine and I hope the attitude of the "locals" isn't similar to your caption. That would be a rude homecoming.

So Editor, do me a favor and think before your type next time. Your sarcasm doesn't look good on Bethel. Excuse me but I must get back to my troops—after all, there is a war on.

PVT. FEENEY'S VOYAGE

To the Editor:

U.S. Army Private Patrick J. Feeney arrived in Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 28, 1990, where he received assignment to the 2nd Field Artillery of the 3rd Armored Division. The Unit had left the previous week for Saudi Arabia.

On Jan. 11, Patrick telephoned saying he and two others would fly to Belgium to leave by boat for Saudi Arabia, and it should take two weeks. Patrick's parents, Don and Ruth Feeney of Bethel, received a letter Feb. 6 which marked the ship's arrival in Saudi Arabia on Jan. 22. The letter was postmarked Jan. 25.

The brief account of the trip is colorful, with such comments as:

"I am glad I did not join the Navy. I do not care much for sailing. It has been quite a trip. We left Rotterdam, Holland the night that I called Mom. We went out the English Channel, around Spain, through the Mediterranean Sea, through the Suez Canal and Red Sea, on up and around to the Persian Gulf. When we came through Suez Canal we had to pick up these people who sold little trinkets and things on the boat. There are also all kinds of thieves who try to get on board. That is why we were locked and loaded with bayonets fixed when we went through. One guy threw a grappling hook over the side of the boat and tried to climb up onto the boat, but the sergeant cut the rope so he couldn't."

"We hear all sorts of news about what is going on. Most of it is Iraq news so it makes out that they are winning. Then we hear Washington news and it makes out that we are winning. I guess I will find out when I get there."

"If you get this letter you will know I made it all right. I guess we are getting close—I just heard a missile go by."

A diesel mechanic in the motor pool of the headquarters battery, Patrick's address is: PV2 Feeney, Patrick J., 004-76-8830, HBB 2/3 FA, Operation Desert Storm, APO, N.Y., N.Y., 09680-5130.

HANDS OFF RETIREMENT FUND

To the Editor:

Governor McKernan's efforts to divert funds from the Maine State Retirement System endanger the welfare of one of our state's most vulnerable groups of people—the elderly.

More than 70,000 people are either active or retired members of the retirement system, and several hundred thousand more people's economic security is tied to the Fund's ability to perform.

The Fund's fiscal integrity is still being threatened.

First, there was a proposal to withhold $73 million from the Fund. That was defeated by the Legislature. Then a new bill was drawn to cut $43 million. It was knocked down by the Legislature's Appropriation committee.

Now, the Governor has issued an executive order to reduce costs and to stop payment on $23.8 million the state owes to the Fund.

This latest move was not the end. Now, payments to the Retirement System will be deferred until a disability fund surplus is used up. The Maine Association of Retirees (MAR)—a 10,000 member organization of retired teachers, state employees and local government workers—has strongly objected to the potentially crippling invasion of our retirement fund, where repayment would be uncertain.

We firmly believe the Retirement Fund belongs to the thousands of worker who contributed to it, during their careers, or are contributing to it now. The Fund consists of their money, the money paid or owed to it by the government as part of labor-management contracts, and money realized by prudent investment.

Over a decade ago the MAR was founded by a handful of retirees who felt the Retirement Fund was vulnerable if no one was looking out for its interests.

The MAR has assumed this watchfulness as a major responsibility. To keep the Fund free of future manipulations we have obtained legislative sponsorship of a bill calling for a constitutional ban on the deferment of state funds to the Fund. The Retirement Fund with its $1.3 billion in assets and $2.36 billion in present and future liabilities has been more secure than it would have been with nobody watching, lobbying and protesting against any efforts to destabilize it.

FROM BOTH SIDES NOW—KEZAR LAKE NUKE WASTE MEETING

To the Editor:

Marie Bartlett isn't the only person who wasn't happy with the informational meeting held in Greenwood last January 24 by the low-level nuclear waste authority. As a local resident of this area and a concerned citizen, I went to that meeting to take part in the informational side of the democratic process and learn something through the exploration of questions and answers. Instead, I was astonished to see the state board refuse to let anyone with an opposing opinion speak. Almost unbelievably, panelist Dr.

Thomas Eastler shouted down one activist by saying: "I've listened to you thousands of times. I'm not interested in what you have to say." The fact is that we weren't supposed to be having this meeting for Dr. Eastler's ears. It was supposed to be for the people.

I attended the Greenwood meeting because I wanted to get the whole story about low-level nuclear waste. I didn't get it. For that reason, I have since invited several of the activists, who drove great distances to come to the Greenwood meeting and who I never heard speak, to come to the Kezar Lake area in April for a meeting in the Lovell town hall and intend this letter to be an open invitation to the state board to send a panelist and the Bethel Citizen and Marie Bartlett to act as observers and reporters and for all of us to hear a series of separate and diverse opinions followed, I hope, by a series of tough probing questions put to all panelists on all sides of the issue.

I hope to see your there. This issue is far too important to remain unexplored.

UNCLAIMED DEPOSITS FUND RECYCLING, WASTE REDUCTION

To the Editor:

Recent accounts of the proposal to claim the deposits from unreturned beverage containers stated that the revenues would be used to fund the Department of Environmental Protection.

Actually, the proposal is to use the money to fund waste reduction and recycling programs in the Maine Waste Management Agency. The Waste Management Agency is an agency separate from the Department of Environmental Protection and was created in 1989 to assist Maine's towns and businesses to develop recycling programs and to site and develop state waste disposal facilities. The Waste Management Agency is a service agency and has limited regulatory responsibilities.

The money from the unclaimed deposits would be used to support the agency's responsibilities to assist municipalities and businesses in meeting the state's waste reduction and recycling goals and to offset the costs of siting and developing the state's waste disposal facilities.

The reason for linking unclaimed deposits to recycling and solid waste disposal programs are obvious. Beverage containers that are not returned for deposit go into the waste stream and require costly disposal. The unclaimed deposits would support programs that encourage and promote waste reduction, recycling and sound disposal. In fact, the two states that claim uncollected deposits dedicate these revenues to waste management activities.

I trust I have clarified the reasons for claiming unclaimed deposits and how this money will be used.

MAIN STREET FIRE—A Monday evening fire gutted the recently renovated apartment house on the corner of Main and Mechanic Street in Bethel, leaving 10 people homeless. No one was reported injured in the fire. The debris was still smoldering late Tuesday afternoon.

Fire

Power was restored to the other houses Tuesday morning.

According to Young, the fire was still burning late Tuesday afternoon and an excavator was called for to pull out some of the rubble so the fire could be extinguished.

Because of the sub-zero temperatures and wind Monday night, Young said, firefighters, "couldn't stay on a hose very long before they had to go thaw out." He said that water turned to ice almost immediately after it left the hoses and made for very slippery footing.

Bethel road crews sanded the streets in the area Tuesday morning. A fire marshal determined Tuesday afternoon that the fire started in the middle of the building on the second floor, but the specific cause has not yet been determined.

The destroyed building, which was owned by George Dunn of Ellsworth, was valued at $185,000 by the Town of

THIS WEEK AT THE

Moses Mason House

Three films were featured at the monthly meeting of the Bethel Historical Society held Thursday evening in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House.

The first film, "Country Corners," provided a quick and lively look at the history of contra-dancing. The next film, "The White Heron," is an elegant rendition of a classic short story by Sara Orne Jewett, dealing with the role of outsiders in Maine, the garden versus the machine. The final film, "Story of a Patriot," is the introductory film shown at Colonial Williamsburg for many years and as such is full of patriotic fervor, an especially appropriate one for February, President's Month.

During the business portion of the meeting, President Jane Hosterman announced that the next meeting will feature a presentation by Society Director Stanley R. Howe on "Maine History and the Maine State Grange." Mrs. Hosterman announced that the "Artifact of the Month" was an original letter sent out by Dr. William E. Lapham in May 1891 when he was completing his History of Bethel requesting genealogical information. This letter was the gift of George and Mary Stowell of Falmouth. The proposed amended constitution and by-laws of the Society announced last month was voted upon at this meeting and unanimously approved.

The president reminded those present of the 17th annual Heritage Day set for Feb. 22 from 1-4 p.m. It will include old-time craft demonstrations and exhibits, hot Indian pudding served from the hearth of the Winter Kitchen, a book fair, historical videos and an art show featuring local artists.

Following the program, Persis Post announced the refreshments for the evening in addition to coffee, tea and apple cider. They included cherry cheese tarts in honor of George Washington, chocolate logs in honor of Abraham Lincoln and cookies with a kiss on top to celebrate St. Valentine's Day.

Bethel. It had recently been extensively renovated.

Young said that the only things that could be salvaged after the fire were a few items stored in the basement. Harry Faulkner, owner of Backstage Restaurant, opened his restaurant to firemen and served coffee. Young also said the department was grateful to the townspeople who also provided coffee and donuts for the men.

Chief Young said that most of the people displaced by the fire had moved in temporarily with relatives in the area.

proposals. I will contact any individuals who may be directly affected by the budget as soon as the Board has approved a final FY '92 budget."

The directors did not discuss the memo at Monday's meeting, but this year, for the first time, the school board's finance committee will be part of the budgeting process. Open budget workshop sessions will be held on Feb. 27, March 6 and March 7 at 7:00 p.m. at the Telstar Library.

In other business Monday night, the board approved the Oxford County Shrine Club's request for the use of two school buses to transport the district's fourth-graders to the Shrine Circus in Lewiston on April 13.

Bethel director John Brown asked if the district had a history of providing the fuel for the buses. Craig responded that the district had done so traditionally and that he felt the benefits of free tickets to the circus for the students outweighed the cost of the fuel.

Telstar Principal Ted Davis also informed the board that the district's aspirations compact was fully funded. The district received $10,000 and was the only compact in the state to be fully funded.

The board also approved the following substitute personnel: Elsie Alyward as a substitute secretary, Cheryl Barker, Barbara Fiore and Sherry Sharon as substitute teachers. Charles Raymond was approved as Telstar Middle School intramural softball coach.

Director Betsey White of Andover did not attend Monday's meeting, which was held at the Andover Elementary School.

Bethel police log—

On Monday, Feb. 4 at 5:01 p.m., a Bethel gas station reported the theft of $10 worth of gas.

At 8:38 p.m., an officer called Oxford County Sheriff's Department for assistance in unlocking the patrol car, because the spare key would not unlock the doors or trunk of the car. OCSD responded and could not unlock the cruiser. The OCSD officer transported the patrolman to another Bethel officer's home to pick-up another key for the cruiser.

On Tuesday, Feb. 5 at 4:20 p.m., an East Bethel resident reported water covering much of Vernon Street.

At 4:23 p.m., a Bethel resident filed a harassing phone call complaint.

On Wednesday, Feb. 6 at 4:49 p.m., an East Bethel resident reported a motor vehicle refused to yield to a pedestrian on Main Street.

At 5:39 p.m., after seeing what appeared to be roman candles being launched on old Rt. 2 in West Bethel, an officer advised two juveniles that possession of illegal fireworks was a serious offense.

At 9:40 p.m., police contacted a wrecker to tow a vehicle from the Telstar High School parking lot that had an expired inspection sticker and illegally attached plates.

On Thursday, Feb. 7 at 9:52 a.m., police responded to a minor traffic accident on personal property in Bethel.

At 11:49 a.m., a Telstar High School student reported the theft of $5 from her locker.

On Friday, Feb. 8 at 2 a.m., Police responded to a traffic accident in Gilead and stood by until OCSD arrived.

At 2:57 p.m., police unlocked a vehicle for a Bethel resident at the Telstar High School parking lot.

Ski championships

Teammates Tom Morton, Scott Emery and Matt O'Meara finished 13th, 20th and 21st respectively.

The Rebel alpine team did not fare so well, despite some excellent individual performances.

Robin Michaud captured first place in the giant slalom, with Meredith Otten close behind in third. Jen Percival skied to a second-place finish in the slalom.

But with their teammates far behind, the girls had to settle for an overall fifth-place finish among the six teams competing.

The Telstar alpine boys, hampered by the absence of Pat Harrington (who is recovering from injuries suffered while recreational skiing), finished sixth out of seven teams. Bruce Korhonen skied to an eighth-place finish in the giant slalom and to 11th place in the slalom.

The Rebels host Edward Little today at (tentatively) the Sunday River Inn in Newry, and both the nordic and alpine teams will be at Black Mountain this weekend to compete in the Maine Class A championships.

Price war

according to C.N. Brown President Harold Brown, "There's a price war between Dead River and Xtra Mart," he said—a price war that had inevitably drawn in other companies attempting to compete in the same market.

Prices are crucial, Brown said, because customers have little loyalty to a particular gas station. "Your mother will leave you for a penny a gallon and go across the street to buy gas," he said.

But if the price war accounts for the lower-than-average prices in Oxford Hills, what accounts for the higher-than-average prices in the Bethel area?

Not transportation costs, which amount to less than 1/2 cent per gallon. Former Ripley & Fletcher employee Frank Gibson thinks the answer is simple—greed. The companies, he said, "will bite just as hard as they can, wherever they can."

Nothing in state law protects Bethel area consumers from this constant nibbling at their wallets. According to Assistant Attorney General Frank Ackerman, "As long as there's no evidence of collusion, local markets can operate differently and freely."

Collusive behavior, Ackerman said, would be suggested by "anything that would cause you to think, 'Hey, what's going on here.'"

It is not collusive behavior for dealers to keep tabs on each other's prices and to charge as much as the local market will bear.

And Ackerman said, "Isolated markets with only two or three dealers tend to perform poorly."

The sharp price differences also raise the question of whether Bethel area consumers are, in effect, sub-being developed," he said.

The 10-year plan proposal includes three districts: general development, rural development and resource protected district.

Most of the area in the Sunday River Valley, from the Bethel town line to the Riley town line, would be zoned general development. A majority of that land is owned or under the control of Sunday River Ski Area, the town's largest developer. (Les Otten is the owner of the ski area.)

The residents' only questions about this designation were why any land above the Skiway Access Road was designated general development, since much of its current use is residential and therefore it should be considered a rural zone.

WAXED AND READY—In Telstar High School's new ski hut, Shilo Hutchins, left, and Crystal Chase prepare their skis for last Saturday's Mountain Valley Conference Championship. The Telstar girls team won the meet, led by Shilo in second place and her sister, Misty, in third. Kristen Powell came in eighth and Crystal tied for 12th.

These questions went essentially unanswered at the public hearing, but Growth Committee Vice-Chair James Sysko said later that much of the land in question is in the 100-year flood plain and therefore protected. He added that the land around the Artist Bridge and the fields above the bridge were designated as resource protected. But the land returns to general development near the Hurricane Outward Bound School.

Sysko said there had been some debate during committee meetings about the area near the Riley town line, but that the committee ultimately voted that any land owned or under control by Sunday River Skiway be designated as a general development zone.

The ski area purchased the land in question from the International Paper Company in 1988. Eighty percent of the 4,000-acre parcel lies in Newry, the remainder in Riley.

In the Bear River Valley, the general development district is designated as the intersection of Route 2 and 26, with 1,320 feet on either side of Route 26, continuing up Route 26 for approximately three miles.

Otten said the committee designated the first few miles of Route 26 as growth development because that area currently contains two gas stations and three gravel pits, and any future village center may be located there.

The mention of a village center seemed to distress some residents of that area. Charles Taylor said, "But when you say general development, I see Main St. U.S.A. I guess I just don't want to live in downtown Newry."

Otten stressed that any development whether in a rural or general development zone must meet high performance standards, which, he said, would help preserve the existing character of the town.

The performance standards Otten referred to include such matters as noise restrictions, odor control, road setbacks, sewage disposal, erosion control, and protection of aesthetic, cultural and natural values.

He also said that limiting entry ways to businesses in a general development zone to one every 400 ft. would prevent "spaghetti," or strip development.

Several residents, however, said they thought the 400 ft. restriction on entry ways was not enough, and Otten said the committee would reconsider the ordinance.

In addition, when residents asked what the difference between allowed development in general and rural development areas were, Otten said that performance standards and density of development were the major differences.

"There can not be more than one unit per acre unless cluster development is used," said Otten, "and then only on 25 percent of that parcel. As the ordinance applies to the general development zone, the density could be much higher, but then it would have to meet performance standards such as plumbing codes, buffer zones and height requirements."

"You can do anything you want on either side of town if you meet the performance standards," he said. In a rural zone only 25 percent of the acreage on a parcel may be developed, which, Otten said, would encourage cluster development.

A 25-percent bonus can be given to developers using cluster zoning, said Otten. There could be "125 units on 100 acres," he said, "but the project would have to use only 25 percent of the acreage." Otten added, however, that if shoreline zoning or wetland ordinances also applied to the same parcel of land, those performance standards might rule out any increase of units on the property.

In closing, Otten said, "This is being done in response to a state requirement, not due to a tremendous amount of development pressure."

The committee will meet Feb. 26 to review the concerns expressed by townspeople at the public hearing.

If no major changes to the plan are determined to be necessary, then the committee will schedule a special town meeting, at which voters will be asked to approve the plan.

A message from the principal

The Woodstock Parent Teacher Association is in the process of raising funds for spring activities. Booster Club tickets are available at the school. We need help from parents to sell these tickets. Your support is needed and appreciated in this activity. Events coming in the spring will include the sports banquet and the book awards for the most improved student in each class and academic honors awards in each class.

The WPTA is donating $25 to the Outward Bound Program for sophomores at Telstar. This is a most important program for SAD #44 students. Community members who wish may make donations to this program through the WPTA.

We had a lovely visit on Thursday from McGruff the Crime Dog. The suit was provided by the Masonic Lodge and presented to the Oxford County Sheriff's Department at the Woodstock School. We are anxiously awaiting a classroom visit by McGruff in the near future.

We are all wishing Mrs. Smith the best of luck with the son to be new addition to her family. Miss Lyons, Mrs. Smith's replacement, has worked very hard to make the transition go smoothly. The students will enjoy Miss Lyons during her stay.

School district looking for new kindergarteners

Elementary schools in SAD #44 are undertaking their annual search for prospective kindergarten students. Any child who will be five years of age on or before Oct. 15 is eligible to enter kindergarten for the 1991-92 school year.

Anyone with a prospective kindergarten student in their household is asked to contact their local elementary school: Woodstock Elementary, Bryant Pond, 665-2228; Ethel Bisbee, Bethel, 824-2748; or Andover Elementary, Andover, 392-4381. The child's name, birthdate, and mailing address are needed so that forms can be sent out before registration day. Dates and locations for kindergarten registration will be announced at a later date.

Gould Academy to host ski jumping championship

Gould Academy will host the New England Prep-School championship in ski jumping at the Swan's Corner jump on Thursday night, Feb. 14, at 6 p.m.

This will be the first night ski jump meet at the jump. Participating schools are Proctor Academy, Vermont Academy, Holderness School, and Gould Academy. Spectators are welcome.

YMCA gymnastics come to Woodstock school

A YMCA Saturday gymnastics program will be held at the Woodstock Elementary School starting Feb. 16 for boys and girls, age three to 12 years.

The beginner/intermediate class will be held for children six to 12 years old between 9:30-11 a.m. The fee is $20 per six weeks plus a $5 yearly membership fee.

The pre-school class for three to five years old is held from 11 to noon for a fee of $15 per six weeks plus a $5 yearly membership fee.

Classes are taught by experienced instructors and include warm-ups, tumbling, vaulting and balance beam. Pre-registration and full payment is required before Feb. 16. Classes are limited and participants are taken on a first come-first serve basis.

By MARTA CLEMENTS

Members of the MSAD #17 Language Arts Committee met with their schools this past Wednesday to present work done to update the reading program. The committee was guided by the philosophy statement: "As educators in SAD 17, it is our intent to provide K-6 students with an environment that fosters positive attitudes about reading. The reading curriculum should provide each student with the opportunity to develop reading potential with respect to individual style and level of learning."

This philosophy is reflected with goals and objectives under a variety of topics. The team presented a comprehensive reading program, which is organized in developmental stages: readiness, or pre-reading; early, or beginning reading; basic, or broadening reading; and fluency, or extended reading.

The Parent Teacher Volunteer meeting held this past Monday accomplished quite a bit of business. We discussed the success of the Walk-a-thon, with over $2,000 raised for computers. The group now has to check computer catalogues to decide on the best buys for our school needs.

We made plans for a bottle drive to raise money for the fifth-grade trip to Boston. Weather permitting, we will gather at the school at 9 a.m. on Saturday morning, Feb. 16. Cans and bottles may be brought to the school that morning, and we will be coming door to door also.

Mrs. Barbara Shedd and Mrs. Lisa Beebe reported that we are ready to open our Clothes Closet. We want to recycle clothing that children have outgrown. If you have anything to donate just bring articles to the school. If you would like to come in and see what we have that you can use, please drop in also.

Mrs. Shedd and Mrs. Beebe plan to have time scheduled each week when they will be there to help and to organize the donated items. But we hope people will come in most anytime to see what we have. There will be no charge for these items. We want to help each other out, and it is smart to recycle, or reuse, rather than to throw away.

Our next Parent Teacher Volunteer meeting is set for Tuesday, March 5. Make a note of it now, and then watch for a reminder nearer to the time. News from the classrooms this week!

ground hog puppets. They talked and wrote about ground hogs also. In math they have been using the flannel board to play games and arrange sets of pictures using numbers to 6. They have been writing snowman stories, a math activity teaching the children how to create math problems.

The first-graders have learned about the special days in February: Ground Hog Day, Presidential birthdays, and Valentine's Day. They are making ground hog masks and reading "It's Ground Hog Day and Will Spring Be Early Enough?"

In math they are continuing with comparative measurement. Children are bringing in interesting shaped containers to compare. Mrs. Loper sends "thanks" to all who brought in rice for this project. They are playing number games, Crazy Mixed-up Numbers, Piggy Bank, and Roll the Dice.

David Hemphill is the special second-grader this week. He and his classmates have been working on letters to their pen pals in Hebron. They are also making Valentines to send along with them. They continue to observe Dental Health Month. One of their activities is to create booklets about dental health, teeth, toothbrushes and going to the dentist.

Mr. Burke's third-graders are working hard on expressional echo reading. They are listening to the story "A Thousand Paper Cranes." I expect to see paper cranes by the thousands coming from the third grade soon.

The fourth-graders have completed the Maine State Assessment tests and they have been mailed in. They continue with their study of the regions of the U.S., by learning about the Northeast, its land, resources and people. In science they are beginning their unit of The Air Around Us. This will lead into a unit on weather. Oral book reports will be the focus this ranking period and this reporting will start Friday.

My fifth-graders have mailed their letters to Saudi Arabia. We are working on dictionary skills for language arts. Today's lesson involved each child using the dictionary to find out first hand how to use the guide words. Each student is becoming the teacher and making up a worksheet for a classmate. This activity was fun, and involved a lot of learning at the same time.

The sixth-graders are working on the English skill of subject/verb agreement. They have finished up their work on fractions and are moving on to decimals. In science they constructed a working model of the heart, and a model of the eye.

Klondike Derby is scheduled for Friday, Feb. 15. This is an outdoor activity for grades 2-6, and children should dress warmly. Feet, head and hands must be protected. This is rush for the gold. Knowledge, speed and accuracy will help individual teams strike it rich!

I spent several days last week with daughter Ethel and family in Otisfield. This week I have been confined with the flu.

Kassi and Bernie and Kaity of Auburn and Brandon and Tara of Old Orchard Beach were supper guests Saturday of their folks, the Dave Salways.

Paul and Judy Halle of Lisbon Falls spent Sunday with the Bill Bancrofts and enjoyed some snowmobiling.

Jack Parsons with son Tom were in Norway Tuesday and Thursday for medical appointments.

The unseasonable weather this week—50 degree temperatures in February in Maine—should shorten this month and the winter.

Conway, N.H. were here on Sunday. Sliding and skiing were enjoyed.

Dorothy Ross returned home from the hospital on Saturday. Hope she is gaining well.

Granite Chapter #115, O.E.S., will meet on Thursday, Feb. 14, for a patriotic meeting. There will be a 6 p.m. supper with Susie and Jane Abbott and Frances Haney in charge. The amendments to the by-laws will be voted upon. For entertainment there will be a Valentine exchange.

Frances Farnum of Bethel called on Louie Coffin last Saturday.

The Historical Society will meet on Monday, Feb. 18, for a 6 p.m. potluck supper. The supper committee is Lempi Cyr and Virginia Hyam. After supper we will go to the home of Richard Perham for an evening of musical entertainment.

A reminder of the bottle/can drive to be held on Saturday, Feb. 16, 9-11 a.m., sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Volunteer Group. This will benefit the annual fifth-grade trip to Boston. If you would like to have your donations picked up, you may call one of the following numbers—674-3091, 674-2744 or 674-2143. You may also bring your bottles or cans directly to the Agnes Gray School on the morning of the collection.

Walter Inman, a postal carrier at the Norway Post Office, has been appointed officer-in-charge at the Andover Post Office.

We're sorry to have to report two deaths in our community. Shirley Wilson and Francis Cox passed away. Shirley's funeral was Thursday in the forenoon and Francis' funeral this afternoon. Much sympathy is extended to the bereaved families.

Four to five inches of snow fell Thursday night. It was rather slippery driving I was told. A strong wind blew after the storm.

Doris Munn the state nurse was in Thursday morning to check me out. Roger Benson had broken out the road so she was able to get up to the house. Patricia Tibbets stayed with Olive Davis while Esther Davis attended the installation of Dr. Herbert Adams as the minister of West Paris Universalist Church Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Andrews, Sharon Goldsmith, Daphne, Nancy Smith and daughter Charity also visited Olive Sunday.

Patricia Tibbets spent Saturday afternoon with her mother Esther Davis and Olive Davis, and had supper with us. She attended the dance at West Paris Grange Hall later. It was good seeing her again.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Andrews were over Sunday. Esther Davis attended church at West Paris.

Dot Ross is home from the hospital. She has help to take care of her. Good luck to all.

edged below the zero mark several times. The white of the snow could be heard against the echo of the expansion cracks of the ice on the pond.

Over night the frost flowers bloomed on all the windows; some resembling ferns of the rarest perfection.

The sunrise is still slow but the sunset is later. Although the change isn't much, we know it's there.

Leaving my snug security of warmth I walked into some of winter down my valley.

The giant icicles hanging from the rocks, though beautiful, as they glistened in the sun, were gnawing away at the edges trying to crumble.

Just beyond and nearer to the road the water trickled and piled up in terraces, as it was hit by the frost giants. By its side were masses of delicate crystals, frost flowers again, resembling feathers. Had some winter bird shed them there?

At the edge of the pond, still tall and stout but no longer dressed in its "woolies" but in yellow flowers stood the common mullein plant. It is known as the American Velvet Plant and will be with us again, come spring.

It's a hushed time of year, when the woods are still except for the rustle of the oak and beech. Upon the hills, now a tired worker, Mother Earth, takes her ease protected by a quilt of white. Sunshine sparkled the snow flecked boughs.

Pacing toward home now against a keen wind I saw the clouds rolling up forming another mountain above the old ones. I gazed at their peaks so much resembling shoulders strong and broad, proud and bold.

Overset Bluff above the trees resembled a huge elephant just rising to its feet. Untouched and unchanged it is one of nature's masterpieces.

I reached home once again and viewed from my window the lean cold birches against the azure blue, while the wind drew its lazy tune through the top of the pine.

I was looking over some papers this week and I came across the Special Edition of The Oxford County Citizen, an illustrated edition published in observance of the 150th anniversary of the Last Indian Raid at Bethel in cooperation with George A. Mundt Post No. 81 American Legion. To quote, "The American Legion of Bethel named their unit for the first soldier of the town to make the supreme sacrifice, George August Mundt."

Mr. Mundt was the son of Fred A. and Bertha (Spinney) Mundt. He graduated from Gould Academy in 1916.

In May 1917 he enlisted at Portland in the First Division, Seventh Field Artillery. In July he reached France and was on the front at the Sommeville Sector during October. By New Years, 1918, he was in action on Ansaerville Sector, and in Cantigny from April to June; at Montdidier Noyon in June and at Aisne-Marne in July. He met death serving the gun in an open field July 19, 1918.

He lies in the American Cemetery at Seringe Nesle, in the heart of the Marne Salient.

Two other soldiers mentioned were Ralph Frost and Alvin E. Chapman. One of the compensations of advancing age is that events of an earlier period grow fresh in all details. So this week I turned back to this magazine of 1931 and lived again with many of the people pictured and that I knew and places that I remember. Each person has a biography and the places, interesting facts. There are so many that I can't begin to cover them all. Here are a few I remember when I was at Gould Academy. I name first my principal, Frank E. Hanscom who did much to help me on "my road" of life. A glimpse of the Gould campus turned back time for me.

Other faces I remember were, Dr. Widd B. Twaddle, Dr. Raymond R. Tibbets and Dr. I. H. Wright.

Cleo A. Russell who was employed at the post office, I recall. Eugene A. Van Den Kerckhoven, was associated in the Van Tel. and Tel. Co.

Thomas LaRue, a friendly man who repaired shoes, so countless were the "soles" that he saved for thrifty folk. Emory Bowdoin who was my superintendent of schools. William E. Bosserman, Bethel's druggist on Main Street.

Hon. Henry H. Hastings, who became a presiding judge at the Oxford Probate Court.

Dr. E. Linwood Brown, Bethel's dentist, Edward P. Lyon, a business man who ran a store.

Judge Addison E. Herrick, who was born in my town, Greenwood, the son of Benjamin and Maria (Garland) Herrick. The original Garland place is located up back of my place on Noyes Mountain.

I recognized Ellery Park, the father to my teacher.

Also there were Edmund C. Smith, Marshall R. Hastings, and Dr. William R. Chapman.

Last but not least to be pictured were the twins of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvanus H. Brown. Robert and Roberta, Paul and Pauline; I can't help wondering where they are today. They were so young in the picture.

There were many other pictures. Most of the places were familiar ones, in particular The Tea Room of Farwell and Wright, a store on Church Street where so often I used to go.

A few poems were printed "Bethel the Beautiful" by Adelaide M. Gordon, "Seen in the Pine Cone's Blaze" by Adie Kendall Mason.

The very last article in the paper was this.

Wanted: A laboring man to work at the Philbrook Farm who wears out his shoes before the seat of his trousers. Mrs. J.M. Philbrook.

So many things I had to leave out but I enjoyed the magazine so much. I agreed with Mr. Twitchell who wrote, "The man or woman who can not find satisfaction in reviewing other days and scenes merits our sincere compassion."

Ann Holt took her father and mother to Portland on Thursday; where her father saw his doctor. He has to go again the first week in February. I rode with them to Gray and stayed the day with Doris Hayes, a friend of many years.

On Friday afternoon Dot Betts and I visited Dorothy Ross at Stephens Memorial Hospital.

I was at the farm on Sunday where the family helped David Holt celebrate his birthday.

The snowmobiles were on the pond over the weekend, for the first time this winter.

I was pleased to see the Kuvaja sisters on Saturday. Both are married and had their children with them when they came to see me.

Katherine Hakala had her second eye surgery recently and is doing well. Tommy Bragg celebrated his 15th birthday on Sunday with his mother and other family members at his grandmother's.

Ruth Hanscom entertained the Tuesday Club on Feb. 5 at her home. We had a nice afternoon.

Leonas Holt was in Portland to his doctor on Monday.

On Sunday the Holt families were together to help Ann celebrate her birthday. We all enjoyed her cake and her gifts.

The telephone company worked on the line through here on Tuesday.

It feels like spring, but don't believe it for Maine never has spring this early. Just enjoy it while it lasts.

Beautiful balloons were in the sky Monday as I drove home from work. There were four just off the ground at the airport and there was two in the sky.

Alder River Grange #145 held a regular meeting on Feb. 2 with eight members present. There were 10 people for the card party afterward, one table of canasta, one table for rummy and two people for cribbage. There will be a card party on Feb. 16 at Stanley Howe's starting at 7 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hastings went to Sunday River with Mrs. Michael Brown, Mrs. David Brown and Dr. Tilden on Feb. 9.

Mr. and Mrs. Kip Krichko (Leslie Bancroft) will be living and working in Newry.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Gamble, Robin Ziegler and Jim Smith all of Salem, N.H. were visitors at the Hastings homestead last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hastings visited Mr. and Mrs. Eric Hastings in Danvers, Mass. to celebrate Zachary's first birthday.

Rudi and Barbara Honkala were in Yarmouth visiting Mrs. Evelyn Tamminen and David Tamminen.

Edward Hastings has recently married Pat Miller in Red Lodge, Mont.

What a change in the weather and a nice warm one at that. Guess most of us can stand that for sure. Also helps on the oil bill and we can appreciate that very much. Some clouds this morning but supposed to be good and I sure hope so. We have been lucky this winter so far and hope it continues.

Tom and Peggy were down again Wednesday evening to play cards. Helps while away the time faster.

Did the usual things on Thursday but nothing unusual and played cribbage with Tom and Peggy in the evening. Getting better at that also as we have played quite a lot. Tom played so much out in Colorado and has been showing us how to play. Lots of fun as well.

Friday was Russell's birthday and he decided to go to Lewiston to order a pair of glasses special for playing the piano. He has been practicing this winter and it is hard for him to see with his everyday glasses as he has to use the reading part and tips his head to see, thus hurting his neck which he has so much trouble with.

What a beautiful day Sunday turned out to be! We didn't go anywhere but did enjoy the day with the warmth and sunshine to make it so good. Russell and Peggy went for a walk in the afternoon and Tom had gone somewhere so all made use of the day in our own special ways. I worked on my counted cross stitch and got it nearly done so that is good. I will soon be able to start something else for craft work. Have to keep something going and make gifts for next Christmas at the same time.

Talked with Mary Lovejoy and she went to Bethel Saturday and picked up Helena Bartlett, then came back and got the rest of her family and they went to see Elinor Emmons who lives on the Harrison Road. She had a birthday on Friday I believe Mary said and they took a cake to celebrate even if they were a day late. Being a good day, they enjoyed themselves immensely.

Take care everyone and have a good week ahead and anyone who is coming to our next grange meeting on February 18, bring a Valentine to exchange and the best home made one gets a prize. Always love to have guests so come and join us for a good time at Franklin Grange at Bryant Pond. Hope to see a good crowd there.

News from the Bethel Area

Health Center

By HARRY ROSSI, PT

It's 1991 and you've made a resolution (again) to lose weight. How? The basic principle of weight loss is to burn or use more calories than you take in. So to lose weight, you can either take in less calories (eat less and/or only eat "good" foods), or you can increase the number of calories you burn—by exercising.

We all know how hard it is to diet, and if we return to our former eating habits after we achieve our desired weight loss, we'll probably return to our former weight, too.

That's where exercise plays an important part in a weight loss program. Exercise burns some of these calories off that we're taking in. So, weight loss can be achieved without starvation diets, allowing us to lose weight while maintaining healthy eating habits and give us a much better chance of maintaining the weight loss permanently. The exercise that you do should be aerobic in nature, that means utilizing oxygen. An exercise session should last a minimum of 20 minutes and be at an intensity sufficient to elevate your heart rate (check with a medical professional for safe limits).

Exercises that are aerobic and recommended weight loss include swimming, jogging, walking, cross-country skiing, and rowing. You should exercise a minimum of three days a week, up to five to six days per week.

Don't forget the other benefits you can get from exercise: a stronger heart, increased lung capacity, more energy and endurance and decreased cholesterol.

A program designed for the public to use the exercise facilities here at the Health Center is underway.

'Ski with a Forester' at Sunday River X-C Center

Foresters from Boise Cascade will be on hand to lead group tours at the Sunday River Cross Country Ski Center on Wednesday, Feb. 20. Groups of up to 10 skiers will leave the center at 10 a.m., 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. Those interested in the free programs should plan to arrive early on Feb. 20 to be assured of a place in a group.

The land being used is part of the American Tree Farm System. Forests which are a part of this system are managed for timber production and recreation. This topic, as well as tree identification and other forest related issues, will be a part of the 45-minute tours.

More information can be had by calling the Sunday River Cross Country Ski Center at 207-824-2410.

Gould-Monhegan Island connection brings Jamie Wyeth show to Bethel

The Gould Academy Art Gallery's record of bringing in the work of nationally-recognized artists was advanced this year with the help of an influential person—Gould senior Heather Body, is down-to-earth and unfazed by the association.

Bates' portrait will share the gallery with works like "Islander" (1975), in art historian Lincoln Kirstein's words, an electrifying profile of a wild ram intended as a memorial to [a] now-dead hermit on Manana, "a tiny treeless island off Monhegan, inhabited only by a single shepherd-hermit."

The painting's haunting theme will strike a chord with anyone who has visited the island, the hermit's decrepit digs, such as the group of Gould faculty and student leaders who held a chilly retreat on the island a number of years ago in the off-season, and others who have made the summer excursion.

Also appearing will be "Shorty" (1963), which Wyeth painted with a precocious 17-year-old hand. "Wicker" several hours at a time, but you don't have to keep your whole body still, just the part that he's painting."

Being the subject of an artist who has established himself as a giant in 20th-century American painting doesn't seem to have given Bates the least bit of pretentiousness. She, like Heather Body, is down-to-earth and unfazed by the association.

(1979), a painting of Wyeth's wife Phyllis, and numerous other paintings which are certain to include Monhegan, where the artist has summered since age fifteen.

Those who don't follow 20th century art may not realize that Jamie Wyeth is the son of Andrew Wyeth and grandson of the illustrator and historical romance muralist N.C. Wyeth; nor that he is considered to be an artist of no less stature than they.

And, while Jamie Wyeth learned from his father, he charted his own course. Says Kirstein, "From the start, Jamie's preference differed from the conceptual forms and broken color of N.C. Wyeth, or the lean glazes in tempera of Andrew. In the maturity of accomplishment, his own textures would emerge as thick, rich, and juicy."

The Wyeth show is a rarity for a town the size of Bethel, and many people will travel a great distance to see it.

Among them are expected to be a number of "Gould Islanders": the Bones (Helen '87 and Heather '91) the Barstow's (Dave '87, Andy '88, and Jean '91) and the Bates' (Orcia '94), who begin their trips to Bethel with a voyage from Monhegan Island to Port Clyde, aboard Captain Barstow's "Laura B."

The James B. Owen Art Gallery is open daily from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., and on weekends by appointment. The opening for the Jamie Wyeth show is Friday, Feb. 15th from 7-9 p.m.

Jackson-Silver Post #68

Members of the Jackson-Silver Post #68 of Locke Mills met for their monthly meeting at their hall on Gore Road, Thursday, Feb. 7. A number of items of business were discussed and voted upon, including the following: Tom Warner of the Rumford Post called the Adjutant of the Post, Brian Strickland, about the possibility of organizing a baseball team for the summer months to compete with others posts in the state. The matter will be given further study. A project to promote Americanism was mentioned.

An announcement was made by the Adjutant of the possibility of having access to participation by input in the programs of local television station with a studio to be located in the Telstar High School. More information will be reported on at the next meeting of March 7 at 7 p.m.

There will be an oyster stew supper at the hall, Feb. 21, at 6:30 p.m., to which members of the Bethel Post are invited.

Discussion of doing something for the families and men involved in the "Desert Storm." It was suggested that people should avail themselves of the addresses of the men and write them.

Preliminary plans were made for getting candidates for Boys and Girls State later on this summer.

The following winners were announced for the recent "Cabin Fever Raffle": Evelyn Whitman of West Paris, $200; Christal Lake of Greenwood, $200; Nancy Theriault of Woodstock, $100.

Jackson-Silver Auxiliary
Jackson-Silver Unit #68, American Legion Auxiliary, met on Feb. 7 for a regularly scheduled meeting.

Among the items of business it was voted to contribute $25 to the "Say No to Drugs" program of the Second District, to which we belong.

The American Legion and Auxiliary, Department of Maine has another worthy project this year in restoring a portion of the grounds at the V.A. facility in Togus, which is celebrating its 125th anniversary this year. This consists of beautifying an area in front of building 200 with a new 80-foot flag pole, installing benches and planting flowering trees and shrubs as a memorial to the veterans of Maine. Each Unit is being asked to contribute a dollar per

THOUGHTS FROM THE Pastor's Study

The Bethel Area Clergy Association, with the help of pastors of surrounding churches, brings you these meditations. Not based on any set theme, they will be individual for each pastor. It is hoped you will find in these words, comfort and help for your daily life.

Two significant days in the religious calendar occur this week. Today is Ash Wednesday, the first day of the somber season of Lent. On this day, palms from the previous year's Palm Sunday service are burned, and the ashes distributed to the people as a sign of mortality, repentance for sin, and sacrifice.

Tomorrow is the feast of St. Valentine, or as it is commonly known in our culture, Valentine's Day. Named for two early Christian martyrs, it has now become a celebration of romantic love, a day for giving flowers, candy, and heart-shaped cards to one's sweetheart.

It may seem an ironic coincidence, to pair these two days together. Why should this somber day of ashes and sacrifice fall so close to this joyous day of hearts and flowers? What could possibly be the connection between valentines and ashes?

Actually, of course, there is all the reason in the world to link these two days together. Valentines and ashes may seem incongruous, but they are part of the same process of life. There is no love without sacrifice.

For example, the more we love, the more we must deal with mortality. Into every life, death must come; and the more deeply we love, the more deeply we will feel the loss of our loved ones. We cannot truly love if we are not prepared to mourn and grieve. The bliss and joy of love are won at the altar of grief.

Moreover, we are all imperfect creatures, capable of hurting others, including those we love. Love demands acknowledgment of our capacity to fall short in love, to sin against love. The more we love, the more we become aware of our failures in love—and thus our need for repentance. The bliss and joy of love are won at the altar of repentance.

Also, the more we love, the more we become aware of the need for forgiveness. A truly loving person cannot carry grudges. The more we are aware of our own shortcomings, the more readily we can forgive those of our loved ones. The bliss and joy of love are won at the altar of forgiveness. These are but a few ways in which the valentines of love and the ashes of sacrifice are linked.

—Rev. David J. Armstrong

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to thank my relatives and friends for the many lovely cards, prayers, telephone calls and visits while I was a patient at Stephens Memorial Hospital.

Also sincere thanks to my doctors and nurses, they are the best. Thanks to all who brought gifts, food and the lovely sunshine basket from the Locke Mills Ladies Circle and to my brother Edgar and niece Eileen for looking after my home while I was away. God's blessings on all of you. Vera Gross

CARD OF THANKS

I'd like to thank all my family, friends and teachers for their cards, flowers and visits during my stay at the hospital and my recuperation at home. Your kind thoughts and generosity are greatly appreciated! Jenn Felt

is new West Paris pastor

By Rosine Stowell

At a joint meeting of the West Paris Baptist Church and the North Paris Federated Church a unanimous call was given to Reverend Douglas Pearson to become the pastor for both churches. He has accepted.

Reverend Pearson has an impressive educational background. He received a bachelor of arts degree in 1971 from Pillsbury Baptist Bible College in Owatonna, Minn.; a master of religious education in 1975 from Central Baptist Theological Seminary, also in Pennsylvania.

Before coming to Maine, Pastor Pearson served as youth pastor at First Baptist Church in Little Falls, Minn. Additional responsibilities in the church also included song leader, choir director, principal of North Star Christian Academy, and coach of various athletics.

From there he was called as pastor to Grace Baptist Church in Waseca, Minn., and then Valley Baptist Church in Minneapolis. In 1989, Reverend Pearson and family moved to Maine to serve as Pastor at the South Auburn Baptist Church.

Reverend Pearson is an accomplished soloist and his wife Kathy is an accomplished pianist. They have four children, Karis, who is attending Pillsbury Baptist Bible College; Kristen, who is attending Oxford Hills High School; Kimberly and son Kristoffer, who are in elementary school.

Reverend Pearson has had surgery for a brain tumor twice, which interrupted some of his pastoral work, but he has come through with flying colors and, according to latest doctor's examination, is completely healed. He has a vivid sense of humor; loves his flock; and wishes to serve his Lord in every way possible.
